A Warm, Happy Feeling

Learn why Richie and Carolyn Mashburn volunteer with CarePartners Foundation

If you're thinking about volunteering with CarePartners Foundation, Carolyn Mashburn says, "Just do it! You get a warm, happy feeling like eating a fresh baked cookie!"

Carolyn and her husband, Richie, first got involved with CarePartners in 2002 when their daughter volunteered to wrap gifts with a group of cheerleaders.

In the following years, their family was directly and deeply touched by CarePartners and they were inspired to continue giving back.

Carolyn's aunt died at the CarePartners Hospice Solace Center in 2005. Her mother began receiving hospice home care the same year. Thanks to the CarePartners Hospice team, she was able to die at home, as she wanted. Carolyn says, "If we called them, they were there...They helped all of us."

Carolyn and Richie's experience with CarePartners wasn't limited to hospice. Carolyn's father developed dementia and started participating in the CarePartners Adult Day program in 2009. Adult Day provided personal care and engagement and Carolyn says, "he loved it there!"

Richie says of CarePartners, "They don't just come and go. They affect your life for a long time."

That's why, over the last several years, they've given hundreds of hours gift wrapping for Holidays for Hospice and working with the Blue Ridge Mustang Club of Asheville on the Mustangs for Hospice Pony Run, which has raised more than $140,000 for CarePartners Hospice since 2006.

Like the Mashburns, other members of the Blue Ridge Mustang Club are committed to CarePartners because of personal experience. At the club's October 2014 meeting, Scott Buchanan and Sally Davis of CarePartners Foundation, and Danny Johnson of CarePartners Hospice received a check for nearly $15,000 in proceeds from the 7th Annual Pony Run. When those attending who had been touched by CarePartners were invited to stand, everyone stood. When they were invited to share CarePartners' impact, they recounted moving stories of mobility renewed by rehabilitation, independence restored by home care, purpose and joy derived from the adult day program, and compassionate hospice care. Scott describes the club meeting as "one of the most moving tributes to the work of CarePartners I have ever attended."

Richie and Carolyn say they're just glad to be able to help. We say "thank you" to them and everyone who helps CarePartners Foundation support the work of CarePartners.

This year's limited edition Memorial Ornament is based on a quilt by a member of the Asheville Quilt Guild. One of the hearts in the field is left open to symbolize the person being honored or memorialized, making the ornament a meaningful gift or addition to your collection.

Large, small or unusually shaped. Leave the wrapping to our wonderful volunteers while supporting CarePartners Hospice this season.

Local, hand-crafted wood ornaments by Carolina Mountain Woodturners make wonderful decorations and gifts. Learn more about the artisans at carolinamountainwoodturners.org.

The generous donation was the result of Advanced Home Care's 21st Annual Charity Golf Classic and the generous sponsors. CarePartners Foundation's 'You're Special' Fund provides resources to keep patients safely in their home. The Fund assists patients in crisis situations and can help low-income patients pay for items not covered by insurance. Last year the "You're Special" Fund assisted 150 individuals.
